COAL is 13 and 16 cents in this market for London and Jellico respectively. This is a very low price for the year. The rise is due to the increase of the price at the mines and not by greater freight rates.

AS a committee appointed by the trustees of the Presbyterian Parsonage fund, I will on Jan. 2, 1888, (county court day) sell publicly 10 shares of capital stock of First National Bank of Stanford. J. B. Paxton.

THE murder of Town Marshal Hubbard at Barbourville, by Les Goodin, Bill Beckett and John Hickie, was one of the foulest on record and the scoundrels ought to be hung almost without trial. They are all under arrest.

THE Masonic officers for Lincoln Lodge No. 60, chosen Tuesday afternoon, are as follows: T. H. Hutchison, W. M.; H. J. Darst, S. W.; C. W. Greer, J. W.; S. S. Myers, Sec.; B. G. Alford, Treas., and D. Klase S. and T.

THERE were 59 performers, many of them our prettiest girls, in the concert given by the Christian church last night at the Opera House. We can safely say in advance that there was a big audience and a capital programme well carried out.

THE Pat Muldoon Company gave pretty general satisfaction to the large crowd that attended. There are several excellent specialty people who did very clever work. Anderson Nunnally enjoyed the show more than anyone else. He bought the house, realizing $55 clear by the deal, and he had a right to laugh.

THE Signal Service predicted the cold wave 12 hours in advance and it came Wednesday morning with a vengeance. A searching northwest wind was blowing and a light sheet of snow covered the earth. It got colder all day long and yesterday morning at 7 the mercury was down to 12°.

THE predictions yesterday were for still colder weather. So the ice gatherers may prepare for a harvest.

HO TO BARBOURVILLE.—Superintendent P. T. Downs passed yesterday with a train for the Cumberland Valley Branch, which he put on regularly from Corbin to Barbourville. It will leave Corbin on the a. m. of the day passenger train South and return from Barbourville at 8 A. M. to connect with the North-bound train. Mr. Downs tells us that he expects to extend the run to Pineville in a very short time.

THE MERRY BACHELORS' HOP.—For a number of years the young gentlemen have given regular semi-annual hops, one occurring in the merry month of June, the other in the festive Christmas time. They have always been very elaborate and brilliant affairs, with each succeeding event appearing to eclipse former ones, and the old saying that the last is the best is more than redeemed. There has been a larger attendance at former hops, but never has there been a lovelier assemblage of beautiful and elegantly dressed ladies, nor a handsomer and better behaved crowd of gentlemen than honored the 1887 Christmas hop, and too much cannot be said in praise of the excellent manner in which every detail was conducted. The floor committee was untiring in its efforts and if every stranger did not have a royal time, it was his own fault. The music furnished by Seiber, of Louisville, was good, and in fact everything was first class, with not the slightest disorder or hitch. Below we give a list of the ladies present and what they wore, as near as it could be gotten, and if any is omitted or her costume not exactly correct given, it is an error of the reporter's head alone:

CINCINNATI

ENQUIRER

FOR 1888.

An epoch in the history of American politics that promises serious and radical changes in the past and present schemes of the Buyers and Sellers of Legislation and Political Favor.

Of wealth produced, 80 per cent. to the non-producer and 20 per cent. for the actual producer is the unequal division between

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

The Labor Field has been carefully kept open for all comers, and promiscuous immigration not only encouraged, but the very worst foreign pauper labor has been contracted for and imported, in order that competition would cheapen the cost of labor and force it to accept any price offered, while EVERY AVENUE OF COMPETITION HAS BEEN EFFECTUALLY CLOSED IN THE INTERESTS OF MONOPOLIES AND MANUFACTURERS, CORPORATIONS AND CAPITAL. Thus it is, the

Rich Grow Richer and the Poor Poorer

A Money Power has dictated legislation and the administration of justice, both State and National, to such an extent as to render the Elective Franchise a nullity, if not a farce, and elected officials mere figure-heads.

TRUE TO ITS PAST HISTORY,

The editorial page of THE ENQUIRER will present a review of the past, the causes and effects, leading up to the present state of primary corruption in a series of truthful, exhaustive and unanswerable articles that will show who and where and when originated the infamous class legislation.

During such a crisis a subsidized press, demagogic speeches and purchasable politicians so demoralize the public mind that a reliable exponent such as THE ENQUIRER is an almost unnecessary ally with EVERY VOTER OF WHATSOEVER PARTY, CREED OR FAITH WHO VALUES HIS MORAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS WORTH PRESERVING. As a

FAMILY NEWSPAPER

THE ENQUIRER will stand without a peer. As a Guide for buyers and sellers of merchandise and produce, its market reports will be found full, reliable, extensive, and of very latest date from every commercial center. #### FROM WORKS ON SCIENCE.

A new disinfectant that is thought to be especially adapted for use in localities where epidemics are common has been obtained from coal oil.

The diet of prehistoric races has been ascertained through the process of decalcifying the dental tartar from the teeth of their mummified remains.

A delicate operation is accomplished in a neat and expeditious manner by the use of the electro-magnet. It is the location and extraction of a needle from the human body.

Scientific investigations have determined that the germs of disease are taken up and deposited by flies, the bacilli of consumption having been found in abundance on window panes and walls.

That dynamite always explodes downwards is stated to be a popular fallacy. All such explosives as nitro-glycerine, gun-cotton and fulminates, exert the greatest force against the point of greatest resistance.

Drinking-water taken in large quantities acts as a diuretic and increases the perspiration in a high temperature. Increase of weight has also been attributed to systematic water-drinking, but the supposition is claimed to be erroneous.

It has been observed that trees of a special variety indicate soil of a certain kind. For instance, pines are found in rock or gravel soil; peaches in a chalky soil; elms in rich, damp soil; oaks and ashes in heavy clay soil, and willows and poplars in marshy soil.

In connection with the sense of hearing are similar phenomena to those occurring in the sight. It has been observed that some persons are unable to distinguish certain sounds in the same manner that others can not distinguish certain colors. This infirmity is termed "sound blindness."

The tube for the great telescope of the Lick observatory, on Mt. Hamilton, Cal., is four feet in diameter in the center, and weighs in all eight thousand six hundred pounds. This huge instrument is so exactly made and nicely balanced that the pressure of a single finger will direct it to any point in the heavens.

According to scientific authority, sleep will prevent nervous headache if taken at the right time. If the subjects of such headaches will watch the symptoms of its coming they can notice that it begins with a feeling of weariness or heaviness. This is the time a sleep of an hour, or even two, as nature guides, will effectually prevent the headache.

Sewer-air is regarded by some sanitarians as dangerous only when it contains the germs of specific diseases; but the many instances in which it has seemed to be the sole cause of persistent sore throats, headaches, and diarrhoeal troubles, without the development of any well-defined disease, would seem to militate against this view.

The mode of capital punishment most in accord with humanity is thought to be by means of electricity. The plan advanced is that of an arm-chair with metal arms. The condemned person would be seated in the chair, and at the proper moment receive a full electric charge through the metallic arms. This would pass straight through his body, across his chest, and death would be instantaneous. A dynamo of forty-two horse-power would be sufficient to accomplish the work with neatness and dispatch.

The superstition that human beings should sleep with their heads to the north is believed by the French to have for its foundation a scientific fact. They affirm that each human system is in itself an electric battery, the head being one of the electrodes, the feet the other. Their proof was discovered from experiments which the Academy of Sciences was allowed to make on the body of a man who was guillotined. This was taken the instant it fell and placed upon a pivot, free to move as it might. The head part, after a little vacillation, turned to the north, and the body then remained stationary.

FEMININE NOTABLES.

Boston society has two fine violinists in the Misses Botsford and Carpenter of that city.

HARRIET BENSCHER STOWE prefers Hartford, Conn., to any spot in the world as a residence place.

Mrs. CHRISTINE NISSEN was presented with a magnificent fan studded with rubies and diamonds by an Eastern potentate.

The best-dressed woman in America is said to be Mrs. Coleman Drayton. She spends annually for her clothes about forty thousand dollars.

REPORT says that Mrs. Jefferson Davis remarked recently, that she never believed in the success of the Confederacy in the war, but always predicted defeat for her husband.

A LADY physician of New York, Dr. Mary Patrick has the largest professional income in that city, receiving over forty thousand dollars annually. She lives and conducts her business under the same roof with her husband, who is also a physician.

The "woman in politics," is apparent in the person of a pair of Wayne County, N. Y., ladies named Miss Nellie L. Cook and Miss Ella Clark, candidates for the office of school commissioner, the former on the Democratic ticket and the latter on the Prohibition ticket. They are regularly stumping the county.

A LADY named Hildegard Oelrichs who is engaged to a leading steamship owner of this country, has won a reputation in fashionable circles for her pickin' the hunting field. When visiting at the Bradley Marins' shooting-box in Scotland she brought down a stag with her rifle, and last year she excited the enthusiasm of the West by shooting a grizzly bear in the Rocky Mountains.

MISS CLEVELAND patronizes a Washington tailor when she orders new costumes. She does not like the fuss and bother of the old-fashioned dressmaker, and while in Europe adopted the custom of going to a tailor to have her dresses made. The fact that she has clung to this habit has had an effect on Washington sign-borders. Where once the word "Dressmaker" appeared is now painted the legend "Ladies' Tailor."

Mrs. Anderson wears a cloak in "A Winter's Tale" which it took twenty-five women three weeks to embroider. The embroidery was done from designs by Alma Tadema. Miss Anderson's necklace is copied from one supposed to have been worn by Helen of Troy, which is now in the South Kensington Museum. Miss Anderson, in London, occupies a house on Hampstead Hill from which she can look down upon the smoky city and congratulate herself that she is breathing purer air than the millions of human beings below her.

Miss Proctor, widow of Barry Cornwall, is the most interesting old lady in London society. She is eighty-seven years of age, but "goes everywhere," as the phrase is, and is eminently popular for her wit, good spirits, and conventional powers. Her father was the famous Basil Montagu. Mrs. Proctor lives in a handsome flat in the Albert Mansions. Charles Dickens used to say that, when he wanted "to brighten up," he went to see Mrs. Proctor. She has known intimately the famous men of England for some generations past, and her memory is stocked with interesting facts.

AMERICAN ENTERPRISE.

OVER 100,000 barrels of oysters are annually shipped to Great Britain from New York.

In three months' time there have been organized in the Southern States thirty-one natural gas and oil companies.

There are at present about 150 cotton-oil mills in the South, with a capital approximating $11,000,000, in which 400,000 tons of seed are converted into oil.

A concession has been granted an American syndicate by the Chinese Government to construct a telephone system, with absolute control for fifty years.

As an article of home manufacture, the cable employed by the St. Louis cable railroad is an object of interest. It is 33,000 feet long, is in one piece and weighs 100,000 pounds.

A BRIDGEPORT (Conn.) manufacturing concern is sending large numbers of a family button-hole machine to India and Japan, and one establishment has an order for fifty sewing-machines for Asia.

AMERICANS are taking the lead in the manufacture of lenses, the Germans yielding supremacy in the line of perfect work. The large optical instruments in Europe are ordered numerous fine astronomical instruments constructed in this country.

In the manufacture of glass and steel in this country, improvements are said to have been achieved through the substitution of petroleum for coal as fuel. By this means, also, some paper mills claim to have increased their product twenty-five per cent.

STATISTICS of exports of iron and steel products to all parts of the world have aggregated in nine months' time $4,888,888 worth. In addition to this, sewing machines to the value of $1,678,131 have been sent abroad, Great Britain receiving nearly one-half the number.

PITTSBURGH steel has gradually taken the place of the English article, and it not only is the choice of the American market, but is also fast gaining favor with foreign manufacturers, no less than eight European agencies having been recently established.

It is only a question of time, says a young engineer just from India, when Yankee methods shall be applied to railway building and agriculture there. Several railway bridges have already been constructed in that country on American models, and there is a rising school of the younger British engineers which favors American ideas.

This country is developing a new industry in which pine straw or needles are transformed into fiber or wool and then spun into yarn, which is woven into carpets and matting. The peculiar balsamic fragrance is retained, and offices and rooms covered with the carpet give out a very pleasant and no doubt healthful odor. The material is tough and wears fully as well as the coarser matting, and is much softer and more pleasant to the foot.

A CHICAGO man has patented a paper ink-bottle in England. The bottle is constructed as follows: A sheet of water-proof paper is taken, and is formed into a cylinder of the desired diameter and length. The head and end constructed with relation to the diameter of the cylinder are next introduced and secured in place. The receptacle then requires only to be provided with a lining of pitch to be in a substantially completed condition.

THERE was on exhibition in Philadelphia recently a four-horse truck, on which was an exhibit of many kinds of paper, nicely arranged. On the canvas-covered sides of the wagon was "First paper made in the colonies, in 1690, at Germantown. In 1776 the entire production for the colonies was $300,000, with Philadelphia leading. In 1887 the production for Philadelphia was $8,000,000, while for the whole United States, 1,000 mills, the production was over $200,000,000."

MECHANICAL MITES.

An alloy composed of copper, 15 parts; tin, 2.94; lead 1.82 and one part of antimony is said to be capable of resisting the action of acids and alkalis.

The tin plate industry is now consuming 400,000 tons of English iron and steel a year that would be useless for the purpose if it were not coated with tin.

The art of paper making has reached a point where a growing tree may be cut down, made into paper, and turned out as a newspaper, all within thirty-six hours.

ROLLING out iron chains from the solid bar without welding is one of the recent mechanical operations that have attracted attention. The principle of forming the rollers and the process of rolling out a chain is similar in some respects to the method employed in casting the links and having them come out together in a chain from a mold.

An article called flexible glass is now made by soaking paper of proper thickness in copal varnish, thus making it transparent, polishing it when dry, and rubbing it with pumice stone. A layer of soluble glass is applied and rubbed with salt. The surface thus produced is said to be as perfect as that of ordinary glass.

Historic documents show that tin plate was known at the time of the years of Alexander the Great in the Indies. Herodotus, 450 years before Christ, Dionysius Siculus, Aristotle and Pliny, all speak of tin and the use of it for preserving iron. The tin was extracted from the mines of Setis and St. Michael's Mount, and brought to the shores of the Channel to be carried through Gaul to Massilia (Marseilles).

The extensive railway system of the United States will this year require 60,000,000 ties for repairs, and as the lines are yearly extended the number required for this purpose will be increased. Expressed in board measure, this represents about 2,100,000,000 feet. The supply is limited to special kinds of wood, and these are chiefly cut from trees ten to twelve inches in diameter and from thirty to sixty years old.

A PROMINENT mechanical engineer says she metal of the future is aluminum, and that in a few years it will displace iron and steel, and revolutionize the industrial arts. He says the world contains ten times as much of it as of iron—every clay bed being an aluminum mine. It is three times stronger than Bessemer steel, and will not corrode, it is very ductile, is a third lighter than cast-iron, and the raw materials for making it are cheap.

A DURABLE dead polish is obtained in tempered steel by first smoothing the steel surface with an iron polisher and some powdered oil stone, carefully washing and rinsing. Then mix in a small vessel some fresh oil and powdered oil stone, dip into this mixture the end of a piece of either pith, and polish the steel surface with a gentle pressure, cutting off the end of the pith as it commences to become soiled. In conclusion, it should be thoroughly cleaned in soft water.

A LATE improvement in the construction of apartment houses is the introduction of pneumatic tubes for sending letters and papers to the upper stories. They are light, cheap, easily adjusted or repaired, and are made after the manner followed in the manufacture of fire-works. They are rolled from sheets, and while the rolling is in progress are treated with asphalt. When complete they are lined with an insensible enamel. It is thought they will eventually supersede lead and iron pipes.

TRADE AND LABOR NOTES.

A CHATTANOOGA paint company is making paint that contains 55 per cent. of metallic iron.

A NEW shaft south of Akron, O., owned by the Lake View Coal Company, is about to be opened.

The Norfolk & Western Railroad Company is building iron steamers in order to increase its coal traffic.

The Journeymen Barbers' Union has issued a call for a convention for the formation of a National union.

A COMPANY with $1,000,000 capital is being formed in Pittsburgh for the manufacture of the Hall iron carriage-wheel.

The organization of a company for the manufacture of pig-iron and bar-iron and iron-ware at Guinison, Cal., is under way.

TOLDO Knights and members of other organizations in that city are forming a co-operative company to operate a general store.

A SOUTH CAROLINA textile mill has ordered machinery to be used in manufacturing very fine quality dress gingham out of their own yarn.

The General Assembly at Indianapolis has taken resolutions to punish those persons who take the emblems of the Knights of Labor to sell their goods.

THE St. Louis wire nail factory's output is at the rate of 250 kegs in a day of ten hours. Having fallen considerably behind orders it has put on a night force.

Throughout the potteries east and west there is a development of talent, and finer work is being produced, although as yet the market for it is very limited.

In New York the building operations so far this year cost up $20,000,000, as against $40,000,000 for the same time last year, and $40,000,000 for the same time in 1885.

COLEMAN, SHIELDS & Co. have started up the original Ward mill, at Niles, O., with sixteen puddling furnaces and the plate mill, making skelp iron for pipes and tubes.

TAKING six trades as a basis, the average pay of a skilled laborer in North Carolina is $1.60 per day; unskilled, 65 cents; farm labor, without board, 55 cents; farm labor, with board, 30 cents.

SOAP manufacturers in Cincinnati who run on the profit-sharing plan have just divided $38,000 among their workmen for the past six months. The highest share to a single workman was $40.

THE manufacturers of all kinds of glass expect a little sharper competition next year on account of a great increase of manufacturing capacity. They say, however, that prices can not legitimately decline.

THE production of Bessemer steel ingots in Great Britain in 1886 was 304,300 tons more than in 1885, but the number of converters fell off from 105 to 94, showing that converters of large capacity are taking the place of such of smaller power.

THE Leuz Wire Nail Company, of Belleville, Ill., have had their plant of ten machines in operation less than three months, but have met with a demand which makes enlarging necessary, and they have determined to give up their rented shop and erect new works with much larger capacity as soon as possible.

THE lumber manufacturers are purchasing immense tracts of timber territory wherever they can be bought cheaply. California red wood is being bought in rapidly. The cream of the yellow pine region of the South is already controlled. A Michigan firm has lately bought 12,000,000 feet of yellow poplar in North Carolina. Michigan lumbermen say that the cost of logging this winter will be increased about ten per cent., and that this increase will be reflected in the prices of lumber sold next spring.

YARNS ABOUT SPOOKS.

Mysterious Apparitions Noticed in Different Parts of the Country.

About two miles south of St. Joseph, Mo., is an old-fashioned log house, which has long borne the reputation of being haunted. It has not been occupied since 1864. On March 11 of that year a woman was murdered in the house, and shortly afterward the dead body of her brother-in-law was found in the woods near by. On certain nights the ghosts of the murdered people are said to be seen, seated before the blazing fire, apparently engaged in deep conversation. Suddenly, with a loud scream, the woman falls to the floor, and the man rises horror-stricken to his feet. Then the lights go out, and the room is dark again.

It is claimed that unearthly cries have been heard at the dead of night coming from the deserted spot, and the dumb animals which have heard them have been almost overcome with fright.

Mrs. Holmes, of Brooklyn, had a terrible dream one night during the absence of her husband in Philadelphia. She dreamed that a telegram was brought announcing that her husband was dead. At the same time appeared the butcher, the grocer and others with bills to be paid. She was in great distress, when her mother, who had been dead two years, came to her and told her that she would find a roll of money in her husband's old shoes. In her dream she went to the shoes and found the money, then awoke. Feeling nervous, she went to light the gas, when her mother's spirit really appeared and told her that her husband would soon die, and that she should take care of the bills. It turned out exactly as the ghost predicted.

A friend of Mrs. Lena Reich, who was slain by her husband at 144 Norfolk street in New York last April, has just made a startling statement. She says that Mrs. Reich told her that, prior to her marriage, the ghost of a former lover appeared to her late one night when she was alone and advised her not to marry Reich, as he would murder her. She was nervous, and the matter for a time, but finally concluded to pay no attention to the warning, and was married. She was killed by a knife in the hands of her husband, exactly as the ghost had foretold.

A Miss Fay, who has acquired some renown as a medium in London, was disconcerted in Blackburn by an unexplained incident. Spirits were hovering about the hall in airy nothingness over the heads of an awe-struck audience, when suddenly the apartment was illuminated by some doubting conspirators striking lights. The ghost invoked by the medium was caught, and proved to be a linen bar inflated. Miss Fay was on the roof, and her position accounted for the bag being endowed with locomotive powers.

Jefferson Davis' Wound.

The wound which Mr. Davis suffers from is a peculiar one. It was received at Buena Vista in saving Bragg's battery from capture. General Taylor's message to the battery commander: "A little more grape, Captain Bragg," was sent during the same battle. At a critical period the Mexicans advanced in three lines upon the battery. "A little more grape" failed to stop them, and they came on. Then it was that Colonel Davis having fought all day with his Mississippi regiment, formed them once more, charged upon the flank of the advancing lines and saved the guns and the day. But in that charge a musket ball struck Colonel Davis upon the front of the right foot. It entered just about the center of the arch between the ankle and the toes, passed through and out of the heel, passing through bones and cartilage.
